Bagel Jay's Story

According to legend, a Viennese baker created the very first bagel in honor of King John Sobieski of Poland, because the king reportedly saved Vienna from Turkish invasion in 1683. The traditional water bagel arrived on American shores in the early 20th century, when Jews fled Austria, Germany and Poland.

Three quarters of a century later, in 1976, two siblings from the Bronx brought the fresh-baked water bagel tradition to Buffalo. Word of their consistently fine products, quality and service spread until their stores served customers at two dozen locations in the Buffalo Niagara region and outside the area. After a brief hiatus, Bagel Jay has returned!

Tom O'Hara, an Area Manager for the original chain for the better part of six years, joins Bagel Jay as a partner to bring back the best Western New York has to offer.

Remember how bagels used to taste?
